

Pioneer Solutions LLC adds new Environmental Reporting service

Managed Reporting added to serve smaller customers

Denver, October 1, 2008 – Pioneer Solutions LLC, software solutions provider, today announced that it will add a managed environmental reporting service to serve a growing market segment.

Environmental reporting, especially for Greenhouse Gas (GHG) and other emissions, is seen as a growing global market. As regulatory compliance rules mature, an increasing number of organizations will be looking for efficient ways to manage their emissions footprint. “Many organizations and local governments are already voluntarily reporting their emissions footprint”, says David Leevan, Pioneer Solutions Vice President. “But this process can be costly to set up and difficult to maintain. As regulations are sure to evolve, organizations are searching for a vendor to manage this process for them.”

While larger customers, such as utilities and multi-national corporations will likely choose to run their own software solution, such as FARMMS EmissionTracker, smaller organizations may find it easier and less costly to outsource their reporting needs. Pioneer Solutions will use its award-winning FARRMS environmental management and reporting platform to automate the data aggregation, data management, change history, and reporting process. The FARRMS system will automatically report emissions data to whichever registry the customer chooses.
